SPRING 2007

"Fore" the Children

The 7th Annual Max Clark Memorial Golf Tournament for Searcy Children's Homes at The Course at River Oaks was a great success! The tournament was held on Friday, May 11 with 37 teams participating in the 4-person scramble. Initially there was some concern about the weather, but the storm held off and it was a beautiful day. Special thanks to our tournament directors, Mary Ann Arnett and Leah Miller, the tournament sponsors, players, volunteers, those who donated items for door prizes, golfer goodie bags, and the silent auction. The winning teams are listed below.

FAMILY -- Maternity Services

By: Taryn Sheets, Director

Pregnant! This word evokes different feelings depending on the situation. For most, there are tears of joy and happiness. A baby is a blessing for a married couple who is wanting their family to grow. Everyone is excited with anticipation for the new arrival as baby showers are being planned, nurseries are being decorated, names are being chosen, etc.

For some, there are tears of guilt and despair. There may be feelings of guilt about being sexually active outside of a marriage relationship or feelings of despair, knowing that the life this child will have is not the life that would have been wanted or hoped for.

For a young woman who is unmarried and experiencing an unplanned pregnancy, she has to ask herself these questions...

- ✓ What kind of life can I provide for a child?
- ✓ Am I ready to be responsible for a child?
- ✓ How am I going to be able to take care of a baby and finish school, pursue my career, etc.?
- ✓ Am I going to be able to be both “Mom” and “Dad” to a baby?
- ✓ Do I have the support that I will need from my family?
- ✓ Is the baby’s father going to be supportive, both emotionally and financially?
- ✓ What kind of stability can I provide for a child?
- ✓ Do I have the financial resources I need to raise a child?
- ✓ Am I comfortable getting assistance from the government?

CHOOSING TO PARENT

Parenting requires a lot of time and energy. Parenting is both challenging and rewarding. It is important if a young woman chooses to parent that she has family and/or friends who are supportive of her and will help her to be the best parent she can possibly be.

There are single parent support groups, Mothers of Pre-Schoolers (MOPS), as well as financial resources that will help her in her parenting efforts.

She needs to be aware that there are people who believe that she should take “responsibility” for her actions and that she should parent her child, no matter what her circumstances are, or that the baby’s father should marry her, even if neither is ready to commit to a lifetime of marriage. She has to decide—take a step back and look at her situation. What is best for her and her baby?

CHOOSING TO PLACE

Not everyone who experiences an unplanned pregnancy is prepared to become a parent. She may still be living with her parents and is being parented herself. She may be in college and has hopes and dreams for her future and is actively working toward her goals. She may be well established in her career and doesn’t have the time or the energy to parent the way she would want her child to be parented. She may or may not have the emotional or financial support she will need to parent her child.

Creating an adoption plan for a baby is one of the hardest and yet most unselfish and responsible decisions that a young woman can make as someone who is experiencing an unplanned pregnancy. It means that she is putting her baby’s needs for stability and well-being above her own needs. It means that she does love her child and wants what is best for him or her.

Adoption is a very loving option!

Whether someone decides to parent, or to place, Searcy Children’s Homes can help.

Foster family feature

Glen and Wanda became foster parents in 2006.
This is their story (in Wanda's own words)...

Our journey into foster care began on a Sunday evening. An announcement was made at church about two newborn babies who had nowhere to go. My heart instantly reached out to these unknown children, then I looked at Glen and said, "we can do that." He instantly agreed. That night I called Taryn and told her we wanted one of the babies we had heard about. She graciously thanked me for my willingness to help and then explained to me that we would first need to go through training! A few months later we received our first telephone call.

Within an hour I was given a six-week-old baby girl to care for. She was dirty, malnourished, and had nothing to call her own. As I cried, Taryn hugged me and said, "thank you for being there for this baby." That is what foster care is all about. Being there.

Being there to hold, comfort, reassure. Being there to offer a clean diaper, a freshly made bottle that has been washed, a bath and some lotion before bed. In James 1:27 we are told that taking care of these children is pure religion. We had no idea what this verse was all about until we lived it. This is pure religion because it is completely about someone else.

It has been a wonderful experience to see my two girls (ages 5 and 11) learn to give of themselves simply because it is the right thing to do.

We have chosen to serve as an emergency and respite care foster family. We take the babies (we are only taking infants at this time) when they are first brought into care. We may have the child for one day, one week, or at the most a month. The need for foster care is enormous. Since we began in August, 2006 we have cared for eight babies. Unfortunately, we have had to say "no" to many others.

One of the reasons we have such a need in Arkansas is because of a wonderful law called "Garrett's Law." This law mandates that babies who are born with illegal drugs in their systems or born to mothers with illegal drugs in their systems be taken into care. The only drawback to this law prior to this Spring was that the babies were automatically taken into state care and the option of private agency care or even adoption was not presented to the mother. I began to work with Representative David Evans and with his help we were able to get Garrett's Law amended. Now it is mandatory that the mother be presented with the option of adoption and be given the right to choose private Christian care for her baby. If even one mother makes this choice, the effort will have been well spent. We are very grateful to Representative Evans and to Senator Critcher for helping us to pass this law.

Being there for these innocent babies sometimes takes a little effort. Schedules are altered (sometimes thrown out the window!), a good night's sleep is a fond memory, household chores are set aside—sounds a little like it was when our own girls were born! We believe that these precious babies need the same love and care any baby born into a Christian family would receive. The catch is that Christian families must step up and be there for children, who through no fault of their own, are born into a world much different than the one our children were born into. Making this choice has made a lasting difference in our lives. Each member of our family has been changed for the better.

Being a foster family is amazingly wonderful!!

We are so blessed to have Glen, Wanda, and their girls involved in this ministry. They have stayed up at night, caring for babies who are going through drug withdrawal. They are truly advocates, not only for the children who are placed in their care, but for children throughout the state who are born testing positive for drugs. Their love, care, and concern provide babies with hope! Thank you for being part of our FAMILY!

SPECIAL THANKS...

...to Stacy Schoen for designing our logo for our maternity services brochure. She did a tremendous job on this project!

...to Courtesy Consignments for their generosity. They have had two "yard" sales with proceeds benefiting Searcy Children's Homes. Thanks for thinking of the children!

...to Wal-Mart Distribution Center and Searcy Wal-Mart for their donations of $1,000 for the Max Clark Memorial Golf Tournament.

...to Lowe's for cabinets and appliances, McCoy's for building supplies, Ridout for flooring, Shields and Associates, Kevin Eads, Jeffrey Sheets for overseeing and providing the labor, James Plumbing, Seark Systems, Karl, Caleb, Josh, and Paul McLarty, Stephen O'Neal, Chris, Carter, and Kendall Lowe, Jess Keathley, and Maurice Moon for their involvement with our kitchenette project. We are so thankful for the willingness of these folks to work with us to improve the lives of children!

...to Maurice Moon, Jeffrey Sheets, and Jason McGlawn for working in the hot sun spreading concrete for a circle drive and to extend the backyard patio at the group home. Special thanks also goes to White County PreCast for their donation of concrete to help with the project. The circle drive allows for safer entrance onto the busy street and the larger patio provides an area for the picnic tables and for the younger children to ride their Big Wheels!

Sowing the Seed

by Jeffrey Sheets

2006 was a great year! It is such a blessing to see God work through His people, being willing to sow and plant seeds of hope in the lives of children.

In 2 Cor 9:6-11 we are challenged with our sowing, “Remember this: Whoever sows sparingly will also reap sparingly, and whoever sows generously will also reap generously. Each man should give what he has decided in his heart to give, not reluctantly or under compulsion, for God loves a cheerful giver. And God is able to make all grace abound to you, so that in all things at all times, having all that you need, you will abound in every good work. As it is written: “He has scattered abroad his gifts to the poor; his righteousness endures forever.” Now he who supplies seed to the sower and bread for food will also supply and increase your store of seed and will enlarge the harvest of your righteousness. You will be made rich in every way so that you can be generous on every occasion, and through us your generosity will result in thanksgiving to God.” (NIV)

It is more than just sowing the seed - it is also tending the garden. A garden requires constant maintenance in order to produce a good crop. It is a process of tilling, planting, watering, cultivating, and harvesting. When you partner with Searcy Children’s Homes, your gift makes a difference.

Our goal for Searcy Children’s Homes this year in 2007 is 100 at 100 - 100 churches, individuals, and or businesses committing to $100.00 per month. This allows us not only to just begin to reach our operational costs, but to be able to grow and expand our services, giving us the opportunity to serve more children and families.

As Searcy Children’s Homes continues to grow, so does our need to add additional qualified professionals to our staff. Our foster care program has grown a great deal and we hope to have 24 foster families by the end of the year. As we also anticipate our adoption and maternity services programs growing, we are faced with the need to add another Social Worker/Case Manager as well as an Office Manager.

As God continues to bless Searcy Children’s Homes with opportunities for growth, I would like to challenge you, if you are not already, to become a monthly contributor to this work and ministry.

“Are you sowing the seeds of the kingdom, brother?” “Are you sowing the seeds of the kingdom, sister?” Words from a hymn of the same name, originally written by Palmer Hartsough in 1888, encourage us to be sowers for the kingdom. Let us be about planting and sowing seeds of hope in the lives of children. What can we count on you for this year? Will you be one or part of the 100? “You will be made rich in every way so that you can be generous on every occasion, and through us your generosity will result in thanksgiving to God.” May we all partner with God by partnering with Searcy Children’s Homes. And all glory, honor, and thanks be to Him.

YOUR MONTHLY GIFT GIVES...

...Duane and Missy a warm home in the winter and a cool home in the summer where they can sleep in clean, comfortable beds.

...Freddie and Alesia a home that is safe. They don’t have to feel afraid of someone coming into their rooms at night. They know that the doors and windows are alarmed and there are motion detectors in their hallways.

...Rachel a home where she will be well cared for and nurtured as her little newborn body withdraws from drugs.

...Barbara and Shane a home that provides help. They have professionals with whom they can talk about past abusive experiences as they surface, to work through those feelings and begin to heal.

...Damon the opportunity to get the services he needs to succeed in life.

...each of the children we serve many opportunities they may not have had before, and a chance to succeed.

BOARD MEMBER FEATURE

Dennis Organ became a member of the board in 1999 and has served as treasurer and currently serves as secretary. Residents of Searcy since 1967, Dennis and his wife, Sherry, became involved with child care in 1969 when they worked with James Balcom of Children's Homes, Inc. as foster parents to a 10-year-old girl. In early 1970, they adopted their first son, Michael, through Christian Homes of Abilene and Children's Homes, Inc., and while living in Lubbock in 1973 they adopted a second son, David. Their third son, Philip, was born in 1975 back in Searcy, where Dennis was teaching English at Harding University. He is former chairman of the English Department and now is dean of the College of Arts and Humanities. The Organs are members of the Downtown Church of Christ.

New Law Encourages Large Gifts from IRAs

On August 17, 2006 President Bush signed the Pension Protection Act of 2006 (PPA 2006). This legislation includes a limited-time provision for qualified charitable contributions from Individual Retirement Accounts to Searcy Children's Homes and other charities, sometimes referred to as "Charitable IRA Rollovers." Between now and December 31, 2007, you have an unprecedented opportunity to help us.

- ◆ Individuals aged 70 ½ and older may transfer any gift amount up to $100,000 in 2006 and again in 2007 directly from an IRA to Searcy Children's Homes or other charities;
- ◆ The charitable distribution counts toward Minimum Required Distribution requirements
- ◆ Charitable distributions may be made in addition to any other charitable giving you may have planned

Please note since funds deposited in IRA's are tax-deferred, the distribution to charity can not generate an additional tax deduction. However, because the distribution from the IRA to charity avoids the taxation that would ordinarily occur, even taxpayers who don't itemize their deductions can benefit from making such a gift.

If you are interested in discussing your options under this unique provision, contact Jeffrey Sheets at Jeffrey@searcychildrenshomes.org or (501) 268-3243.

As always, we recommend you seek the advice of your tax and/or legal counsel before deciding on a course of action.
